

R&R Environmental
Connecting Minds and Delivering Success

Jibin Raj

Associate Support Consultant

Jibin Raj is an Environmental Consultant with experience in field investigations and the interpretation of environmental data for assessments. He is proficient in provincial and federal environmental laws and regulations. Jibin has experience in construction and project management as a Civil Supervisor in the oil and gas industry and has a strong understanding of health & safety and environmental compliance in the field. He has excellent technical writing and communication skills and holds a Master's degree in Environmental Systems Engineering and Management from the Memorial University of Newfoundland. Currently, Jibin is working as an Environmental Consultant at RnR Environmental in Mississauga, Ontario, where he conducts literature and field surveys, compiles environment impact assessment reports, and completes phase 1 environmental risk assessment studies. He previously worked as an Environmental Technician at Biomaxx Environmental in St John's, Newfoundland, where he conducted site assessments and consulted with stakeholders and regulatory agencies to conduct environmental audits.